What did you learn about classroom management??

* We learn by modeling ^{and it is} the best way of teaching.

* Our brain thinks better when we are standing up.

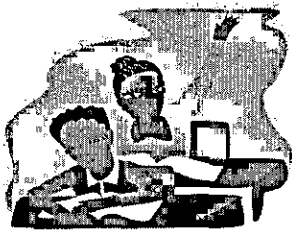

* Our brain makes connections
- ^{we} built on prior knowledge

* set routines and procedures since the beginning and be consistent through out the year

* For every action there is an emotion

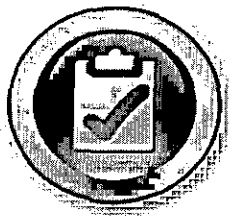

* Be enthusiastic and animated so students are engaged and they reciprocate what they see.

What did you learn about classroom management??

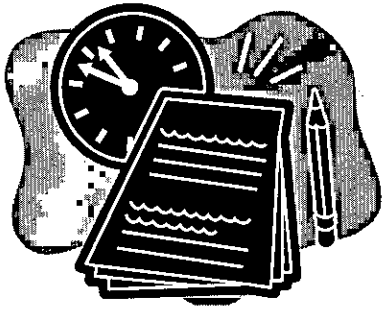

I learned that The brain is what helps and entice the ~~the~~ learning. We must ~~not~~ nurture it w/ H_2O , O_2 and glucose. Students tend to have a hard time in school unless ~~they~~ their needs are met. Talking is a memory tool. Students learn through modeling. Brain works better standing up. Attention span last 5-7 seconds long. Concrete Rules & expectations must be consistent. Choice makes students feel they have power.

Please evaluate "art of compassion" workshop

The art of compassion workshop was very helpful. My school is very big on bullying prevention and being compassionate and mindful goes hand to hand with bullying prevention. I will take these information to my class and use it for class meeting. This class taught me to be aware of others feelings and even my feelings. It will help me create a safe and at-risk free environment.

Please evaluate your workshop on happiness

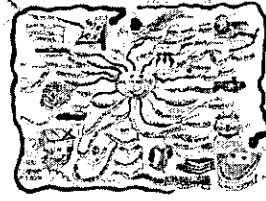

This was an excellent workshop. I learned how to motivate my students to do their best. By getting to know them, and praising them effectively, students will reach their maximum potential. In example, a simple pat on the back or an honest praise like - telling them you liked their effort or how well they did their homework will make a positive connection with your students.

Happiness is a choice that students need be aware of, because by doing so, they will be more positive & open to learning. Practicing habitual gratitude will also promote a more positive classroom environment so that more learning can take place. ~~And this is the goal of the workshop.~~

Thank you for attending the happiness workshop, please remember happiness is within our reach!
